Three Children Barned.

A heart-rending accident happened to three children of Michael Feeban, a miner, who resides at Mayer's works, south of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio, Monday morning. The youngest child was taken to a neighbor's bouse early in the morning, where it was to be christened. During the parents' absence the three children left at home got hold of the oil can and poured the contents into a grate. The can exploded and enveloped the children in fiames, burning their clothes from their bodies and literally reasting two of them. The third one was terribly burned, and it is thought will die.

THE MATTER OF PRESSURE.

It was announced that the West Virginia Company would in all probability extend its line to Benwood, but in that case an independent pipe will be laid outside the residence portion of the city, in order to avoid conveying gas at high pressure through portions of town where property or life would be endangered.

The Manufacturers' Company desired to enter the city at the North End with a pressure of 40 pounds to the square inch. The usual limit in cities is 15 pounds, and it is said that the actual pressure in pipes

Both companies agreed to consult the Board's wishes in this respect. The West Virginia Company's map and route will be iled to day. The other company's was left with the Board at its last meeting.

No member must work with a member not having a clear working card longer than until the next meeting of the organization; if this rule is infringed a fine of $\frac{1}{2}$ thall be levied. Each member will be fined $\frac{1}{2}$ per day for each day he works with a nonunion journeyman. Any member getting intoxicated during working hours or being discharged for becoming intoxicated, shall pay a fine of $\frac{1}{2}$. No member shall work for a "iumper" or do "lump" work, under penalty of a fine of $\frac{1}{2}$. This would prevent plumber's being engaged to fit in, say a bath-tub, that had been purchased somewhere out of the city, or doing the plumbing for a new house the plping for which, was furnished by the owner. All apprentices must serve five years, and none will be taken who are not 10 years old; there must be one apprentice to every four journeymen or fraction thereof, employed in any establishment; all apprentices must be able to read and write English and must be acquainted with the fundamental principles of arithmetic—addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. The associaquanted with the informental principles of arithmetic—addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. The association shall have a voice in the selection of all apprentices; each apprentice must pass an examination before a board of directors of the association, register and report to the association quarterly. The first three years an apprentice serves first three years an apprentice serve shall be as assistant to the journeymen; the next two years he shall serve as his employer may direct. All appren-tices must be legally indentured. No member of the organization will per-mit any helper or assistant to use his tools or any tools that said helper or assistant may possess or be provided with by the employer, unless he be legally indentur-ed according to the apprenticeship laws of employer, unless he be regarly theattar-ed according to the apprenticeship laws of the State. For the first violation of this rule a member shall be fined $10, for the second $25, for the third $50, and for the fourth shall be expelled from the associaion. The members will do their utmost to instruct apprentices in the practical and theoretical work of plumbing. No work will be done as a loan from one employer will be done as a road from the employer to another.

Just what the master plumbers will do is not known. An effort was made to get some expressions from them but they were inclined to be reticent. Heretofore, an apprenticeship has only lasted four years, and the employer has not consulted the and the employer has not consulted the Jaion as to who he should have for aporentices. An apprentice having served our years became a journeyman, but all ourneymen have not been paid the same wages, as is contemplated by the Union's wages, as is contemplated by the Union's terms.

The wages have ranged from about $1.75 to $3 per day, according to the ability and capacity of the journeyman, for in the plumbing business, as in the carpenter, brick laying and other branches of industry, some workmen are worth more than other men.

Another rule that it is understood is considered somewhat arbitrary, is the one requiring one apprentice to be in an establishment for every four journeymen or fraction thereof. A reporter was yesterday told that, in some establishments no apprentices are employed, their place being taken by helpers or assistants, who are now practically shut out by the rile forbidding them to use tools, no matter to whom they belong, and imposing heavy fines on members of the Union who permit such a state of affairs to exist, unless the helper be a duly indentured apprentice.

The shaft was sunk but twenty-two feet when he canned un a vein of ore which when he opened up a vein of ore which y assayed $104 21 to the ton. Williams progued his assay guarantee from responsible Washington parties verifying his statement. Other members of the syndicate will arrive in a few days, when the question of gold in paying quantities in West Virginia will be thoroughly tested. KNIGHTS OF LABOR. In a recent conversation with the Grand

In a recent conversation with the Grand Master Workman and the Grand Secretary of the Knights of Labor, statistics of the increase of numbers in the order were given that sounded like an Arabian Night's tale so wonderful were the figures. Every day apparently brings marvelous additions to the membership. For the first time in the history of the country labor is so organized that it rules. Either its dictations must be submitted to or the WHERLING, W VA, May 15, 1886. Interpor first time in the history of the country labor is so organized that it rules. Either its dictations must be submitted to or the wheels of trade cease to move. The question whether capital will continue to be used and invested while controlled in its action as sur. y as it is now is yet to be settled. Combinations for general good are always more effective than individual effort, but whether the combination represented by the Knights of Labor will be for the public good future events will only determine. A remarkable success, which claims universal attention and admiration, has been won by Brown's Iron Bitters, the only really good from medicine made without the use of whisky, and acting as a perfect purifier of the blood. The cures it performs in all diseases truccable to blood impurities are the basis of its popularity. The endorsement it receives from the medical profession and people, and the great increase in sales, see the proof of this.

A torpid, sluggish, inactive liver secretes NOTICE.

A torpid, sluggish, inactive liver secretes bile and clogs the passage of the blood through its channels which should act as filters. This causes the skin to become thick and yellow and produces biliousness. The tired, exhausted body can furnish no aid, and the sufferer must look to medicine for assistance. Then Brown's Iron Bitters is needed. Its action is rapid, the result is sure. Is gives life to the inactive liver, starts the clogged and impure blood flowing through its filtering tubes, and relieves it from its impurities and removes the bile. Then the skin becomes fresh and white, the eyes brighten, the vitality of the body receives new vigor and health is recovered. The professional knowledge in the selection of its ingredients, all found in nature, and the chemical skill employed in their combination, ensures this result from the use of Brown's Iron Bitters. When your kidneys are weak and pains in the back and sides afflict you then take this remedy. Its effects may be slower than upon the diseased liver, but it is as sure to give strength and relief from pains. People more generally neglect kidney troubles than any other disease. The result of the neglect is seen in the many deaths from 'flighty's Disease.' Here, however, is a remedy which will not keep you from your daily duties, but while working its cure, will give you renewed daily strength to devote to your business or labor. This point is of great importance and should receive your astention. You can relieve your weak kidneys for a dollar, spent for a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, and if your cassis of long standing and a complicated one a few bottles will cure you without loss of a day's time. It is the great stomach, kidney and liver remedy. Iron is combined in it in such a manner that no injury results to the teeth from its use, neither are they discolored by it, It does not cause headache or constipation but invariably relieves them. Of no other Iron preparation is this true. These gualities of Spring Fever. Brown's Iron Bitters not only ma FOR RENT-THE FINE THREE diverview, No. 1063 Main street.
